Whilst we would love for you to spend all your time on our site, we think it is important you familiarise yourself with a wide variety of material.

We will be continuously updating this section so it is worth checking back periodically.

Scientific and Atheistic Resources – Reading

Whilst these resources are predominantly reading material they are not exclusive of it and you may find that there is also some videos and podcasts available.

Richard Dawkins Foundation

	The mission of the Richard Dawkins Foundation is to promote scientific literacy and a secular worldview. Some might see this as two distinct missions: 1) Teaching the value of science, and 2) Advancing secularism.

Viewing and Listening Material

Whilst these resources are predominantly viewing and listening material they are not exclusive of it and you may find that there are also articles to read.

The Atheist Experience

	The Atheist Experience is a weekly Internet television show based in Austin, Texas geared at a non-atheist audience. Every week we field live calls from atheists and believers alike, and you never know what you're going to get! Sometimes it can get quite feisty indeed! You don't want to miss it."

Memes and Images

Memes can be both a good and bad way to communicate. They are a simple bullet point of information, although are often inaccurate.. or worse, spelt incorrectly!!!!

Below is a collection of pages that seem to post good memes!

Refutations to Anti-Vaccine Memes

	Refutations to Anti-Vaccine Memes: exposing the truth of the anti vaccine movement lies through memes.
